In Memoriam . . .

"Paul V. Sangren, as president of WMU from 1936 to 1960, gave to the university he loved leadership which was dedicated, enthusiastic and effective.

"We are saddened by his death, but we shall be ever grateful for his vigorous and responsible leadership by joining and working closely with Western's faculty for thirteen years, from 1923 to 1936. As faculty member and president, this pioneer and national spokesman for qualitative preparation of young people to take up careers of teaching gave thirty-seven years of his active professional life to this university. 'The man who sinks his pick axe into the ground wants that stroke to mean something.' The strokes delivered by President Sangren have had their significant consequences in preparing Western to face its responsibilities of becoming one of the nation's leading universities in the Twentieth Century.

"Our deepest sympathy goes to his good wife, Flossie Sangren, who met her responsibilities as first lady of Western with warmth and friendliness to faculty members and their families and to students and their families."

University Auditorium

University Auditorium
Western Michigan University at Kalamazoo
Grand Opening Festival
January 12—26, 1968

Western Michigan University today takes its place in the forefront of the great universities of the nation which have outstanding facilities for the presentation of cultural events. The University Auditorium, at this time of the Grand Opening Festival, marks another high point in the University's development. Here we will present the performing arts in all their forms not as culture for culture's sake, but for the enrichment of the lives of our students, faculty and our friends of the community.

First of all, I wish to pay tribute to all members of Western's outstanding Board of Trustees. Their understanding and confidence has made possible a monumental undertaking which has brought to fruition on this campus one of the nation's finest auditoriums. Not only did they give approval and take action on this project, they have, during the planning and construction periods, spent many hours with faculty planning groups and with architects. They gave most generously of their time to visit other auditoriums to make certain that Western's would be superior.

The University Auditorium is a facility of which we are proud, but is one which we will share with our fellow citizens. The purposes for which the Auditorium is to be used are well illustrated by the orchestras which have been presented in the Grand Opening Festival series—the Western Michigan University's Symphony, the Kalamazoo Symphony and the Detroit Symphony. This selection of orchestras emphasizes that the Auditorium is here to be shared with our students, the Kalamazoo area and with all of Michigan.

We cordially invite each of you to participate with the University in the use and enjoyment of this fine new building.

Laura V. Shaw

For the University Theatre of the Department of Speech, 1967-68 marks a significant transition. The fall semester marked the twenty-fifth and final year for the use of the "Little Theatre" on Oakland Drive as the center for the activities and production program of the University Theatre.

Opening night at the new theater was February 13, with the cast of Cry, the Beloved Country performing before an invited audience of 600.

Miss Laura V. Shaw, for whom the new University Theatre is named spent 35 years at Western. Beginning her career in 1918, Miss Shaw has seen the drama department grow from a faculty of two with a very small number of students, to a large department with a faculty of twelve and a large student enrollment. From the firm base she supplied by her work the drama department now has the potential of becoming one of the outstanding programs offered at the university.

Walwood Hall Contributes Service,

Walwood Hall with its 117 male residents is the smallest hall on campus, but this fact in no way is representative of its contribution to the tradition of campus life. Walwood, one of the oldest halls, steeped in tradition, offers its residents a haven for study and enjoyment of peacefulness to augment the part Walwood plays in campus competition: whether it be in the form of intramural sports, homecoming activities, or community services such as the blood-drive.

The word for Walwood is unity since its men are always ready to contribute their part to W.M.U.

A quick call tells her that he's on his way home for the fifteenth weekend in a row.

Walwood's house display in the making shows that mechanical and technical knowledge are a must for a winning display.

East Campus is the oldest area of Western adding to the wide range of facilities of a university always expanding the new. This is the campus where a girl still gets coeded and the place where the songs about ivy covered walls still have meaning.

Adding To Tradition Of W.M.U.

Walwood Hall suggested that the Broncos bomb Kent with their house display of "Thirty Seconds Over Kent."

In the simpleness of a Vandercook cubbyhole men find it easy to study.

Plenty of action is continually provided by energetic residents.

Vandercook Fires Up Early In The Fall And

Paul Bunyan and Babe the Blue Ox won third place trophy for Vandercook Hall.

Is Recognized For Its Display

Vandercook Hall, the second men's dorm on East Campus is traditional, as are the other two dorms on this campus, yet it is individual within itself. This hall lacks a food service and the men have nicknamed it "Hungry Hall" for obvious reasons. The men of "Hungry Hall" are active though in intramural sports, and in particular touch football. The unity of Vandercook was at a peak this year as they took third place in the Homecoming house display contest with Paul Bunyan and The Blue Ox.

Spindler Hall Captures First Place With House Display

A year upon the hill of ivy covered walls and worn steps began as Spindler once again opened her doors to her women residents. Spindler, known for its individuality and tradition, attracts girls who like the homey atmosphere of its humble surroundings.

A building party with Spindler's big brothers—the men of Vandercook—initiated their activities with the spirit within the hallowed walls of Spindler culminating as its women captured first place in the Homecoming house display contest. The year marched by and once again the traditions of Spindler encompassed all who spent a year upon the hill. Spindler, like Vandercook and Walwood Halls, is one of the remnants of Western Michigan College and the days of red brick and ivy. Yet these halls live on with even the most modern student falling in love with the spirit embodied by, perhaps, a student's own parents.

Only those who live there understand and appreciate the true beauty of an individual campus among the newer rock and cement of West Campus, and these are the residents who'll carry on the tradition for their children. This is East Campus and Spindler Hall.

Innumerable hours spent by dedicated workers were repaid as the imaginative house display of Spindler Hall captured first place with "Scatter Kent State".

Pondering dreamy thoughts, relaxing, or just waiting keeps any lobby busy, including Spindler's.

The first semester this year at Bigelow Hall was marked by a lack of activity but as January arrived more events were initiated for its residents. Bigelow, like all the men's dorms on campus, participated in intramural sports, last year winning the soccer championship and capturing the All Sports trophy. Football, always popular with Bigelow's residents, was enjoyed even more as the annual staffs vs. House Council football game gave the residents a chance to tackle their staff legally. A new color television set was also provided for the enjoyment of Bigelow men. As one can see the men of this hall were busy not only academically but in the activities provided for them through the House Council. In all, it was a happy year for all who made Bigelow their home.

Dads And Sisters Add Family Touch

An after dinner get-together proves relaxing as these girls play cards and listen to records.

Slumbering with their little sisters and posing for pictures with their Dads were just a few of Davis' activities this year. As one of several sister dorms of Ellsworth Hall, they held an Exchange Dinner as well as a rollicking snowball fight in Davis' courtyard.

Christmas time brought plenty of hustle and bustle to Davis Hall. Besides trimming the tree and their annual door judging, the women of Davis held a party for several girls from the State Mental Hospital.

A mixer on Little Sisters Weekend began the year's social activities for Draper Hall, the dorm that calls itself "the friendliest hall on campus."

Homecoming found the women of Draper constructing a float and participating in the Mud Bowl and the Yell Like Hell contest.

Unusual activities of the year included the pumpkin carving and finger painting parties, while in the more traditional line, the girls took part in candlelights.

Draper's residents, wishing to make Christmas more merry for the needy, collected food baskets and bought toys for distribution.

The Snow Festival, bringing competition in various outdoor activities and in the snow sculpture contest, heralded the near end of a very active year.

Ernest Burnham Sets

Mopping a dirty floor causes turmoil in a once neat room.

After a long summer of dormancy, Ernest Burnham's social activities returned with the advent of the Freshman Carnival. Ernie's booth, Miss America, drew great participation from male carnival-goers, and received first place honors in women's dorm competition.

The women of Ernie welcomed their little sisters on Little Sisters Weekend, entertaining them with a hootenanny, skit night, and a look-a-like contest.

Homecoming again found the hall in full swing. After many hours of work and worry, the Ernie girls were rewarded with third place in women's house displays, with Three Billy Goats Gruff, and fifth place in floats with Mother Goose.

Not only active in campus-wide activities, but in dorm social life, the girls of Ernie participated in a Halloween party, hosted their fathers at a tea on Dads Day, and gave their moms the experience of p.j. parties.

Ernest Burnham, through its interest and ever-present activity, proved to be an integral part of life at Western.

Broken toes created by slamming doors can be embarrassing.

Reading newspapers in the lobby keeps residents and their friends aware of current events.

In keeping with the tradition of a sister hall, Ellsworth enjoys an Exchange dinner with French Hall.

Ellsworth Hall, One Of The Most Active Men's Halls On

Ellsworth Hall, being one of the most active dorms on campus chose for its theme this year "up, up, and away", which was certainly encompassed as the men of Ellsworth entertained sister dorms and led in campus activities such as the fund raising teeter-totter marathon. Ellsworth also enjoyed a coed football game with one of its sister dorms—French Hall.

Ellsworth contributed largely to the Campus Chest through its marathon as well as boosting homecoming spirits. A new director took over duty this year at Ellsworth thus adding even more to a proud and exciting year for residents of this hall. Even when Ellsworth's homecoming house display fell the morning of judging the men rang out their spirit by quickly retaliating and re-assembling it to take a second place trophy. Certainly Ellsworth was "up, up, and away."

Sister dorms get in on the action by assisting in building the house display.

Winning second place for "Around the World in 80 Days" displays fine craftsmanship.

French Hall Welcomes

Little sisters clap along with big sisters to the rhythms of a hootenanny presented in their honor.

Economy and expert hairdos result from this familiar scene.

Ironing becomes an unwelcome weekly chore for co-eds.

New Director, Mrs. Lucille Kassing

Introducing a new director to all the many activities was the job of French Hall girls this year. Included in their activities were several teas given in honor of Parents Weekend, Little Brothers Weekend, Dads Day, and a hootenanny for their little sisters. Exhibiting spirit for Homecoming, French's girls wore "Dr. Doolittle's" little black bag as gimmicks. French's candidate for Homecoming Queen, Marjorie Gravel, was a member of the ten finalists and well represented her dorm. Football was a main topic of conversation as French played the men of Ellsworth and then held a Halloween Party with them in French's recreation room. Glimpses of snowball fights between the two dorms could be seen in French's courtyard. Their new director, Mrs. Lucille Kassing, displayed enthusiasm during all their activities, especially when the girls placed third in a new activity, an inter-dorm Swim Meet.

Orienting the new director, Mrs. Lucille Kassing, is president Linda Taby.

For Henry Hall Residents

In the past three years Western has witnessed many changes but none has been so welcomed as the "no hour" policy initiated for Henry Hall. The great experiment of giving no hours to women has succeeded. Women residents of Henry are allowed to live like human beings instead of being caged at 11:00 P.M.

Along with the freedom Henry Hall residents encountered, there were the usual activities of Homecoming, Little Sisters Weekend, and dating. Even though Henry is an experiment, never tried on Western's Campus, it is approved by all who enjoyed the freedom as well as Henry's own director. Friendships, borrowing a sweater, and playing pranks were obvious in Henry as the residents enjoyed the spirited atmosphere of the new Western woman. Henry Hall has turned out to be one of the most promising developments on Western's campus for women, and many hope this unique policy will be extended to all the women of Western.

No suggestions from Henry's residents surmises that life there is great!

Hoekje supports Ellsworth in its record breaking teeter-totter marathon.

Dr. Marvin, Director of Hoekje Hall and his family.

The three trophies Hoekje won during Homecoming this year: 1st place House display, Grand Trophy, and 1st place float.

One Status

Through enthusiastic and capable leadership, Hoekje Hall became one of the most spirited dorms on campus.

The men of Hoekje participated in exchange parties with their sister dorm, and contributed to both the Campus Chest and the blood drive.

The hall, having many varsity football players as residents, is proud of the fact, and is especially proud of resident Jerry Collins, who was named Lineman of the Week. Hoekje participated very actively in Homecoming, placing first in house displays and floats, named Don Quixote and the Legend of Sleepy Hollow, respectively. All of the men's work resulted in winning the Grand Trophy.

Hoekje's achievements make it hard for the men to be modest when speaking of their dorm.

The men of Hoekje proudly declare themselves No. 1.

Moore's House Council meets to present the ideas and carry out the wishes of their fellow women.

Pajamas, rollers and more pajamas—a little sis is reassured by her big sis that it isn't always such a wonderful party.

Moore Hall, strategically located across the street from the library and within a few minutes of the new Liberal Arts building, provides a haven for her residents who abhor walking or rising early to arrive on time to a class.

The women of Moore contributed to Homecoming success as well as embracing the usual activities of Little Sisters weekend and a Christmas Party.

Throughout the year Moore's House Council provides outlets for its women who call it home.

One of the unusual activities this year for Moore was acclaiming Ellsworth Hall as their Brother Hall. The courtship was initiated as Moore purchased the privilege of teeter-tottering during Ellsworth's marathon for the Community Chest.

Secret sisters and brothers later developed which engaged in the giving of little gifts and gimmicks to one another.

An ultra-modern sculpture now adorns the lounge of Siedschlag Hall dedicated to the woman for whom the hall was originally named. The dedication was only the spring-board at Siedschlag for events throughout the year.

Although the hall is old, the halls seemingly gloomy, and the stairs so tiring, the surroundings are never dull in Siedschlag. This hall, consisting principally of freshmen, found the new blood a welcome sight as the eager spirits soon boasted a second place Homecoming trophy. Recognition was also awarded for their part in the "Yell-Like-Hell" contest and the Freshman Carnival.

By April the gloomy halls had died away and became increasingly noisy as the girls enthusiastic spirit had grown in intensity.

The social calendar at Smith Burnham Hall was highlighted through the year by a wide range of activities. The fall semester included a little sisters' hootenanny with Smiths' two folk guitar entertainers. Later in the fall, Smith presented a mixer admitting late-coming Freshman Reading students free.

Smith was well-represented across campus, boasting of two cheerleaders and a drum major-ette.

In all, Smith provided a lively and enjoyable atmosphere in which friendships, ideas, and knowledge were exchanged.

True to their motto, the women of Zimmerman Hall, displayed heartfelt spirit during many campus and complex activities. Picnicking with French and Davis in the courtyard was a unique happening on our campus. Placing third with their booth for Freshman Carnival boosted their spirit for Homecoming activities and led to a well done display. Stephanie McKenna gave her dorm added pride when she was a finalist in the Homecoming Queen competition. Among other activities, Zimmerman presented a tea in honor of their fathers and a pajama party with their little sisters.

Christmas events included a decorating party, door decoration judging, and Secret Santa exchange. Zimmerman has shown Western's campus that it truly is: "the little dorm with the big heart."

The Fall Fashion Flair

Scratched fingers, unending boxes of napkins, and an occasional mechanical breakdown all became the final product of a house display.

The women of Britton-Hadley ignited spirit this year as they presented the Fall Fashion Flair to the coeds of W.M.U. This was only the beginning of a long list of activities for the women of Valley One, who encountered little sisters invading their private rooms, as well as a pajama mixer and football game with their brother hall—Ackley-Shilling. Upperclassmen predominated Britton-Hadley but a few freshmen found their way, with three in a room made for two, as well as initiating new friendships and discovering that mom was a good cook after all. It was a year of over-crowded conditions, the sharing of a common can opener, and discovering that someone really cared when you cried—it was a year at Britton-Hadley Hall.

Pajama Dance, Duck Chase, And "Yell Like

The men of Ackley-Shilling enjoy a pajama dance with sister dorm, Britton-Hadley.

The men of Ackley-Shilling have had a busy year. Their active hall held a duck chase to clean the valley pond and has also participated in many activities with their sister dorm, Britton-Hadley. These activities included a football game, a pajama dance, and a room exchange.

Located above the "Little Union," Ackley-Shilling is one of the most spirited halls on campus. The men were especially enthusiastic in Homecoming activities, as they took first place in gimmick and the "Yell Like Hell" contests.

Women of Eicher-LeFevre Express Pride, Warmth,

The introduction of Mrs. Betty Jackman as house director was only the beginning of many new innovations for Eicher-LeFevre.

The women of Eicher-LeFevre, being proud of their dorm, wanted to display their pride in a unique way, and so, an artist's drawing of the dormitory was used on stationery which is sold to the residents. Projects and events were sponsored jointly with the men of Harvey-Garneau, even to the extent of exchanging switchboard operators.

Eicher-LeFevre also showed its interest in charitable projects by supporting a Japanese orphan, providing a bountiful Christmas for a little boy from the state home, and by contributing to both the blood drive and the Campus Chest. Although not well recognized in campus-wide activities, Eicher-LeFevre showed warmth, interest, and active spirit throughout the year.

Their activities extend beyond the academic, as shown by their active participation in intramural athletics as well as their Homecoming effort, this year represented by Pegasus.

Harvey-Garneau has also participated with its sister hall, Eicher-LeFevre in an exchange of switchboard operators. Valley 2 men also support many internal improvements in the dorm such as the addition of pool tables and a color television.

Third Valley shares its Christmas spirit with some Kalamazoo children at a Christmas party given in their honor.

Places Through Many Campus Activities.

While mistletoe and Christmas dances embodied the majority of Westerns' campus, Harrison-Stinson found itself sharing Christmas with fifty young children from the Kalamazoo area. The Christmas party was arranged with the help of the Kalamazoo Boys Club and all of third valley. It was a party never to be forgotten by the young children and residents of Valley Three. The Party was concluded with a traditional visit from Santa and the exchange of gifts between the children.

Harrison Stinson also shared its Christmas touch with all of Westerns' campus as they took first place in the window decorating contest.

Previously in the year, Valley Three women took first place with their Homecoming float: "Please Don't Eat the Daisies." Valley Three women are not only busy with the activities of Homecoming and Christmas but teas, Little Sisters Weekends, Moms Day, interquad movies and dances. Harrison Stinson likes to regard itself as a place where congenial and wholesome living can be enjoyed in the midst of a fast growing University.

Fox-Eldridge Takes First Place In Intra-Murals

The Men of Fox-Eldridge celebrate Christmas by entertaining forty worthy children.

This year was the most active in the history of Fox-Eldridge Hall. From their second place finish in Homecoming to their big brother efforts in the Kalamazoo area the hall worked for a successful year.

A highlight of the year for the men of Fox-Eldridge was the Christmas party with their sister dorm Harrison-Stinson. At this party the men entertained forty underprivileged children.

The men were also active in intramurals; displaying their spirit by taking an early lead in the over-all league standings. They took first place in the Turkey Trot and swimming, and came in second in touch football. Fox-Eldridge was the only dorm to place two teams in the top four in soccer by taking third and fourth places.

This was a spirit filled year for the men of Fox-Eldridge. It was also their most active with the Christmas Party, success in intramurals, and the addition of new pool tables and a patio.

Seeking To "Make It On Their Own" More Students Move Off Campus Than Ever Before.

Attracted by financial savings, fraternal living or just the urge to "make it on my own" causes more and more students to move off campus. Encountered in living off campus are burned meals, mopping of floor, and paying that outrageous phone bill; yet the atmosphere of being free attracts even the most demure student.

Women students find living off campus a long sought-after privilege, since the restrictions on women are still heavy. The social climate of apartment living is even more alluring to students who develop a new sense of individuality when weighted with the responsibility of "making it on their own."

Relaxing in true privacy of one's own living room as well as the advantage of a private phone are only two of the reasons for living off campus.

Apart-ness is not a part of apartment people piles.

Students often join their neighbors after classes for some relaxation before hitting the books.

Broncos Invincible At Home . . .

The confines of Waldo Stadium is sacred ground on which the Broncos made believers out of skeptical visitors again this season.

However, on the road to title aspirations, rivals provided too many barricades. After leading the Mid-American Conference throughout most of the year, it was rather frustrating to surrender the conference championship in the closing moments and settle with a tie for third place. Toledo and Ohio University shared a title this year that could have easily been ours, if . . .

Arkansas State, ranked 5th in small colleges, could not stop the "Go Team" as 360 yards were amassed. Instead, the Broncos stopped themselves by racking up a record 120 yards in penalties . . . Kent State stunned a record homecoming crowd of 22,800 by jumping to an early 7-10 lead. That was all, however, as Dave Hudson set up two scoring efforts with key interceptions in the 16-7 victory . . . Toledo was the scene of the worst performance of the season in a depressing 35-9 perdition . . . The 32 point winning margin against Marshall was the highest in Doolittle's coaching career. Marty Barski was named MAC co-lineman of the week . . . Title hopes vanished at Ohio University as influenza diminished the first string ranks. By this time Rolf Strout had already broken Bob Rowe's record for the number of tackles in a season . . . In an upset over Xavier which produced a successful 5-4 record, Livingston hit on 3 field goals and punted 66 yards to the Xavier one yard line, which led to a safety for the tough Bronco defense.

The Class of 1968 contributed a star-studded field of athletes that will not easily be replaced. Coach Doolittle lauded the veterans with the following words.

Co-capt. Bill Divine—a leader by example. Co-capt. Orv Schneider—injured early, but never missed being part of the team. Rolf Strout—our leading tackler. Gary Rowe—a steady performer. Glenn Cherup—anchored our Rustler line. Jim Boreland—he made the Go Team go. Pete Mitchell—one of the best blockers in MAC. Marty Barski—small and mighty with a great attitude and inspiration to others. He thrives on competition. Ron Seifert—his influence on our team is unmeasurable. He started the ball rolling 3 years ago. Dennis Bridges—he stayed with it, worked hard, and obtained his goal. Steve Mitchell—able to play every position well. Tom Saewert—has tremendous pride. The highlight of a success-filled 1967 season was placing fourth in the NCAA 6 Mile Championship. Despite the fact that Western was not a conference winner, high rankings were placed over other conference champions.

Junior Mike Hazilla consistently placed first as he broke six course records. The team excelled on the long distance courses, but was frustrated on the differing shorter courses.

season not completed

The unpredictable cagers opened the schedule with a frenzied march toward victory. Mid-way through the season, Western held a claim on the three way bid for first in the MAC. Unfortunately, Kent State's three point victory over the Broncos dealt a crushing blow to the valiant attempt.

Ron Kidney, a junior college transplant who served skillfully in his senior year at guard.

Joe Volkert, only a sophomore, earned a starting role for the majority of the season.

Joe Kramer warded off the opponent's attack, despite a hindering leg injury.

Clarence Harville, amazing accuracy from far away places.

Successful Season

Hosting the 15th annual MAC Swimming Relays, Western opened with an unexpected third in the tough contest. Expecting a mediocre season, Coach Gabel, was surprised by the consistent victories the Bronco tankers posted. Sophomore standouts for the season were Dick Petersen, setting school records in the 100 and 200 yard backstroke, and Dave Pohlonski, setting a record in the 1000 yard freestyle.

Senior grappler, Gary Stoner, displays the determination that made him the team's outstanding performer.

Rebuilding for several years, the Bronco wrestlers hoped to show their strength in a victorious season. The grapplers opened with an impressive shutout victory against Western Ontario. Seniors Gary Stoner and Rich Johnston, paced the team throughout the year. Despite the matmen's strong opening, they lacked the depth and experience to make it an especially successful season.

Gymnasts Complete Second Year Of Competition

Entering its second year of competition, the Western gymnasts confronted tough opponents. The Bronco's youngest athletic squad added two Big Ten schools, Michigan and Wisconsin, to its schedule. Depth proved to be the major difficulty, since Coach Orlofsky's team failed to post the usual four competitors in each event. With added competitive years, the team should gain increasing recognition.

Coach Fred Orlofsky demonstrates an ironcross in the perfect form that won him the NCAA still rings championship in 1961. The young coach competed in the 1960 Olympic Games in Rome; the 1962 World Championship in Prague, Czechoslovakia; and the 1963 Pan American Games in Sao Paulo, Brazil. He is perhaps Western's most distinguished coach.

Although not a university team, the Hockey Club augments Western's name. Playing most of the MAC schools, the team excelled to procure a winning season every year. The fine performances of Captain George Wolski and sophomore Harry Hodgson bolstered the achievements of all-time scorer Bill Neal. With the team basically composed of underclassmen, next year should prove to be a stronger and more successful season.

Thinclads Open Season

Dave Evick takes daily practice in stride.

The Thinclads opened the season with 1000 competitors in the Western Michigan University Relays. The colorful day featured talent from around the nation, with five meet records falling victim to the conquerors. On the road, Western faced the competition of two tough Big Ten schools, Michigan and Michigan State. At Michigan State University, the Bronco 240 yard relay team; consisting of Paul Schneider, Stan Mizinski, Chuck LeMon, and Dick Kamischke, tied the American record. From the performance of the indoor trackmen, spring should hold many surprises for the outdoor team.

Despite a multitude of varsity, field, and world records being broken, the Broncos only placed second in the Mid-American Conference and fourth out of twenty-eight entries in the Central Collegiate Conference. Most impressive was the world record time of 56.7 seconds set at the University of Kentucky Relays by the shuttle hurdle team of Kamischke, Henderschott, Miller, and LeMon.

A team point system was not accumulated at most of the relays, but Western smashed records at nearly all of them. Both meets were won handily:

Shuttle Hurdlers Shatter World Record

Taking the hurdles in stride is the world's best shuttle hurdle team of Chuck LeMon, LaMar Miller, Bob Henderscott, and Dick Kamischke. LeMon ranks tenth in the world in the 440 intermediate hurdles.

Keith Reed speeds to a new varsity record in the 2 mile run with a time of 8:55.4.

The steeplechase is Lee Frost's specialty. At the University of Pennsylvania Relays he claimed another varsity record of 8:58.1.

A talented import from New York, Mike Hazilla is a 6 miler holding a varsity record of 29:01.3.

Lamar Miller (opposite page) and Don Castronovo were two formidable elements in one of the nation's best track teams.

Coach Maher Ends 28 Year Reign

From praying to cussing, soft-spoken words to yelling at opposing managers and umpires, Coach Charles Maher would go to any extreme to win. A fierce competitor, his players regard him as one of the greatest coaches in the history of baseball. Among other things, the players base this opinion on Coach Maher's great knowledge of baseball and his unending inspiration.

Maher's 439 wins and 197 losses in twenty years can be attributed to his philosophy of playing "sure baseball" without taking chances. His rugged coaching has compiled a .869 percentage average in 20 years of the Mid-America Conference. Maher's nineteen All-American players confirm his excellent coaching ability.

Forced to retire by his doctors, Coach Maher made his last speech to his boys from the familiar Hyames Field dugout, Coach Maher alleged, "I will miss you much more than you will miss me." On the contrary, Coach Maher will be missed by this school as one whose skill and love for baseball could never be equalled.

He compiled an 18 win and 5 loss record in his last year of coaching:

Once again, the Broncos came through with another MAC Title, but not without two crucial victories over Ohio University in the final conference games. Playing before an over-capacity crowd, the diamondmen came from behind to tie Ohio in the 9th inning of the final game. With two outs, and one man on base, little Pat Locanto came to bat and belted a homerun over the fence and onto Stadium drive . . . an appropriate end to another great season.

Most improved player, Jack Sartore, sweeps down on the return.

Much attention was given to senior Dave Johnson, an outstanding player and number one man on the team. Johnson proved his talent by not losing a single Big Ten match and producing a score of 14-2 singles; 13-1 doubles. However, even with Johnson as the backbone of the netters, a mediocre year was experienced due to the lack of team depth.

AKA

In the fall of 1965, Delta Chi Chapter became a reality to eleven young ladies. There are now more than twenty-five active members. The major purpose of Alpha Kappa Alpha is to promote a high quality of social and scholastic leadership. With these objectives in mind, the AKA's have participated in such worthwhile projects as: Halloween parties for orphans, providing toys for children at the State Hospital and entertaining the elderly. The chapter has also been active in such campus events as Homecoming, Sorority Sing, Blood Drive, Mom's and Dad's Day, Panhellenic Ball and Council, Greek Week, and their annual Ball, Rhapsody in Pink.

Have fun, have friends, have love and have faith are all mottos of the Alpha Phi Sorority. Through these the women of Alpha Phi were able to keep their strong bond of sisterhood and become winners in many campus activities. The Phis strive for high academic achievement and participate in campus-wide social activities including AWS and Mortar Board. To start the year off with spirit, they tied for first in Greek Week, followed by third in Sigma Chi Derby Day, then had a sister on the homecoming court, and their float "Thumper" received second place. Chi Os show pep in D.U. Variety Night and Homecoming participation.

XΩ

Once again the women of Chi Omega have gone all out with participation in all of the many Greek and campus activities; including Greek Week with a Tug of War triumph, Derby Day and D.U. Variety Night. The Chi Os also termed their Homecoming a success with a third place float trophy and sister Laurel Burns as first runner-up for Homecoming Queen. Also included in Chi Omega's calendar are many social functions with fraternities, the sponsoring of a mixer, and continued work with the Douglas Community Center as a service project. In all, the Chi Omegas are a busy group of girls with true sisterhood and an eye toward the future, striving to keep their name both strong and alive on Westerns' Campus!

The spirit and pride at 820 South Street runs high among the men of Delta Chi. Emphasizing scholarship and participation in campus life, Delta Chi has contributed a great deal to campus projects. Their spirit is evident in civic projects, including Red Cross and Muscular Dystrophy drives. This year's sports program gave the men of Delta Chi a chance to prove their athletic ability. The brothers started the season by capturing the IFC soccer championship and continued upward from that point.

Since its foundation as the first national fraternity on this campus, Delta Sigma Phi has stressed playing an active role in the activities of Western Michigan University. The man of the Beta Tau Chapter of 1967 continued the tradition. As well as participating in Greek Week, Derby Week, Freshman Carnival, Homecoming, Snow Carnival, and the intermural sports, the brothers also sponsor Greek Ski Night and a Christmas party for underprivileged children in the area as well as many other fraternity functions. An old fraternity, joined by two excellent pledge classes; Delta Sigma Phi eyes the future with much anticipation.

Shouting voices showing spirit—Yell Like Hell

The D.Z. wheelbarrow racing team for '67 Greek Week

ΔΖ

Riding in the driver's seat of campus leadership, maintaining excellence in pledges and actives—On The Go—always—Delta Zeta has Drive!

Looking at the campus around them, through Gaulludet College and other philanthropies. Guiding their sisters in a friendly listening; a warm smiling happiness; a proud heartfelt appreciation.

Rushing to the top with Grand Trophy for Freshman Carnival.

Singing for the second consecutive first place in Sorority Sing.

Reigning as 1967 Homecoming and Derby Day Queens.

Studying the signs and reading the rules for the National Delta Zeta Scholarship Award.

Laughingly placing in Delta Upsilon Variety Night.

ΓΦΒ

The Gamma Sigma Chapter of the national sorority Gamma Phi Beta colonized on Western's Campus February 4, 1967. Since then the sisters have become an active part of our Greek system.

Starting off immediately with winter activities the sisters have grown increasingly in spirit, enthusiasm, and sisterhood. Winning the Derby Day grand trophy was a highlight of the fall activities.

Social participation is encouraged but scholarship is stressed. High academic achievement is the goal of each Gamma Phi.

The sisters of Gamma Phi Beta are looking forward to a future of continued success and growth at Western.

IFC

The Inter-Fraternity Council is the governing body for the social fraternities on campus with the purpose of unifying and establishing policy on various matters. It strives to promote a friendly and democratic spirit between fraternity men. Western's Inter-Fraternity Council is made up of the fraternity presidents and one representative from each fraternity, the executive board, and the sponsors. The fraternities at W.M.U. feel a responsibility not only to themselves and to their school but to the community around them. They do not confine brotherhood within the halls of their fraternity house. It extends beyond the secret ceremonies and symbols to include all men.

We went Greek!"

The Greek system on Western's campus is composed of nineteen fraternities and twelve sororities. Each group works toward friendship, scholarship, leadership, and character development. These goals are each attained by interaction within and among various groups on campus. Activities of the Greek organizations include such events as Homecoming, Freshman Carnival, Snow Carnival, Rush, and various Student Affairs.

This year is especially active with ground-breaking in the new Fraternity Village where construction of some houses has already begun.

ΦKT

The men of Phi Kappa Tau take pride in the maintenance of a high standard of scholarship. Striving for a spirit of brotherhood is shown through their participation and support of the Student Senate, Young Democrats and inter-collegiate athletics. Other on-campus activities include, Freshman Carnival, Greek Week, and Homecoming, in which their float "Mutiny on the Bounty" took first place.

A touch of Dale Livingston. (a little dab'll do ya').

ΦKT pledges pull float into first place.

ΦΣΚ

To the Brothers of Phi Sigma Kappa, Greek life means learning to live and work together for each other's benefit. Being a brother is not an easy task and Phi Sigma Kappas do not recommend pledging their fraternity for the typical party-goer. To promote Brotherhood, to stimulate scholarship, to develop character, for these things, stands a Phi Sigma Kappa.

"What time did you say 'Mannix' was on?"

Okay! Shall we try again?

ΠΚΑ

1968 is a big year for Pi Kappa Alpha. They are celebrating their 100th year as a national fraternity. '68 also shows the Pikes continuing as a progressive fraternity through service to their community. These activities include their annual food drive and working with the boys from the Lakeside Boys Home.

Pikes are united in brotherhood through service and social participation.

Cleaning a fraternity house calls for timeout and a small snack.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon has been ranked as one of the best national fraternities for the past thirty years. Since its founding on Western's campus in 1961, the Michigan Delta chapter has done its part to maintain this high rating. The promotion of high scholarship, true brotherhood, and better inter-fraternity relations are the primary goals of each brother. S.A.E., always a contender for the I.F.C. All-Sports Trophy, also realizes the importance of intramural sports. Members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon serve on Inter-fraternity Council, University Student Center Board, Court of Appeals, Senior Class Committees and Homecoming Committees. The brothers' interest in community welfare was typified by their donation to the Muscular Dystrophy Fund with money that would have otherwise gone to finance their Homecoming float.

Scholarship is their goal when the S.A.E. Big Brothers study with their Little Brothers.

Little Sisters support S.A.E. spirit.

The men of Sigma Chi are active in many phases of campus and community activity. The maintenance of high scholarship in both the pledge class and active members is highly stressed. The brothers serve in such organizations as USCB, Student Association, Traffic Court and planning Homecoming and Greek Week. The chapter also assists the Oshtemo Volunteer Fire Department and the Lakeside Boys' Home by annually sponsoring a party for the children during the Christmas Season. This year marked the inception of Sigma Chi's first annual Derby Day which was a huge success due to enthusiastic support and participation. The Grand Trophy was won by Gamma Phi Beta Sorority. On the social scene, the Sig Chis held their annual Sweetheart Ball, the Winter Pledge Banquet, and several parties with other Greek organizations. Sigma Chi again provided stiff competition, winning several first places in fraternity play, including an undefeated, unscored upon record in fraternity football.

The Sigma Chis did a tremendous job on their float.

The undefeated Sigma Chis hold the Intramural Fraternity Football Title.

ΣK

Everyone wants to "make it on their own" but to achieve this one needs to identify, exchange ideas and discover the significance of a genuine friendship. Sigma Kappa sorority is one of the outlets on Western campus for just such an understanding of oneself, whether it be gossiping with a sister, making a pledge kiss the Sigma K paddle in the union or providing a date for Panhellenic Ball. The Sigma K's, one of the first sororities to break ground in Greek village, are leaders in many areas contributing to a host of charitable facets as in working with the senior citizens at Fairmont Hospital. The Sigma Kappas have many outstanding individuals and this year Sigma Kappa was especially proud of its Greek Goddess Mariane Vaubel, as well as other individuals who contributed to make the sorority dynamic. Sigma Kappa in all is a social sorority providing numerous social functions for its sisters including Pajama parties, Mom's and Dad's day luncheons and closed dances, but it is also conscious of academic and service facets for its sisters. This is certainly evidenced by the fact that the Sigma Kappas were chosen the outstanding Sigma Kappa Chapter of Michigan.

ΣΦΕ

The brothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon strive for those goals instilled in them during their pledge period. Among these goals is the brotherhood achieved through active participation in on-campus affairs. More important, however, is the sense of belonging to a fraternity that promotes leadership, understanding of our fellow man, and the knowledge that after graduation they can return to 305 Stuart Street and re-live the memories of their part in Sigma Phi Epsilon.

ΣΣΣ

"Loving, Giving and Sharing" is the creed of all Sigma Sigma Sigma sisters. By living these words and those of their open motto "Faithful Unto Death" they share the real meaning of sisterhood.

As a bond of sisters they participate in every campus activity. Some of them include Greek Week, Homecoming, Dad's Day, Mom's Week-end and Sorority Sing. The annual Topsy Turvy dance is also sponsored by the Tri Sigmas to earn money for the Robbie Page Philanthropic Project.

The most exciting news that Sigma sisters share this year is the construction of their sorority house which will be ready and waiting for the sisters next fall.

President, Jane Mulligan and an alumni break ground for their house in Fraternity Village.

ΣΤΓ

Sigma Tau Gamma was the first social organization at Western. It dates back to 1913, and in December of 1940 became the first national fraternity on this campus. The Tau's strive for scholarship, and placed first for their Homecoming window in the Student Center.

TKE

The men of Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity strive to promote academic progress as well as personal integrity. They are a fraternity of individuals whose diversification adheres to a variety of ideas and personalities forming one, solid unit. The ambition of this unit is reflected in their success in athletics, homecoming, and campus activities.

The TEKEs are ardently involved in all phases of student affairs as indicated in the offices they hold on campus and their support of all Greek functions.

The incessant hallmark of every individual should be to enjoy life while at the same time developing his potentials in full. The TEKE epitomizes just this type of individual. Tau Kappa Epsilon is known as the fraternity for life and "it's a GREAT life if you can TEKE it".

Time, work and imagination makes TEKEs top fraternity of Homecoming.

Pledge waits as he is going once ... twice ... SOLD to the highest bidder!

Unique in structure of organization, pragmatic in theory of operations, and exciting in capacities of presentation of activities to the eyes of the school, Theta Xi ranks high in the upper echelons of Western's fraternity life.

With the moral, mental and physical development of each and every brother, they strive for the traditional Greek ideal, thereby throwing out the misconstrued conceptions that social orientation is their only end.

The governmental structure for Western students relies on the Student Association for direction. Serving an optimum of students in every realm of college life is the focal point of the organization. Through active participation in the executive legislative and judicial branches, members exploit the opportunities of individual growth as a citizen. Activities throughout the year sponsored by the student body include: foreign films, speakers, the Western Way publication, a fall leadership retreat, and "Who's Who" sponsorship. Friendship and a spirit of co-operation are instilled in those achieving a common goal: the betterment of our University. Scholarships for qualified students, housing, transportation, and the Student Service Committee are among the numerous benefits provided by the Student Association throughout the year.

Swearing to uphold the ideals of the organization to the best of their ability, Student Association members accept immense responsibilities with the title "Senator".

Phi Eta Sigma was founded to encourage and reward high scholastic attainment among the men of the freshman class. It was established at the University of Illinois, March 22, 1923. All men who earn a scholastic average of 3.5 or better in their first semester of college, are automatically elected to membership. Membership is also extended for achieving the same minimum average on the basis of an entire first year's work.

Membership in Phi Eta Sigma carries with it a fourfold responsibility. The fraternity expects its members not only to maintain good scholarship but also to appreciate the importance of certain aids to further successful endeavor—an unimpeachable character, a healthy body, and a well disciplined mind.

Christian Science Organization

Christian Scientists at Western have the opportunity of becoming acquainted with other students of similar religious background through membership in the Geneva Club. Weekly meetings induce unity and friendship while providing the essential structure for cooperation in club projects. Attaining the goals of Christian maturity and service comprises the goal of this religious organization on campus.

Discussion is an important part of the Christian Science Organization's meetings.

The Geneva Club is a group dedicated to the study of modern Christian ideals and a contemporary application of them in today's society. The club provides opportunities for campus involvement by allowing members to air their views concerning their faith in free discussion with others. Besides regular meetings at Kanley Chapel, the Geneva Club's purpose materializes with activities such as mass collegiate forums, a Christmas literature table, sensitivity groups, weekly Bible study and social outings.

Executive Board: Rev. Clarence Van Ens, Advisor; Robert Brower, Vice Pres.; Carole Schuyler, Treas.; Judy Herder, Sec.; Barth Middleton, Pres.; Don Van Hoeven, Advisor.

Geneva Club

Weekly Geneva Club meetings are usually held in discussion form.

After discussion meetings refreshments are served.

A non-denominational Christian organization, the main goal of the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship is to involve interested students in personal and group examination of the teachings of Christianity. Weekly meetings in Kanley Chapel regularly involve guest speakers and lively group discussions. Many social events are planned annually, including canoe trips, Christmas caroling, skating parties, tobogganing parties, and a spring banquet. A high point in this year's activities was the Missionary Conference, which is held every four years in Urbana, Illinois. The I.V.C.F. is open to all college age people in the area.

Pastor Weener from the Second Reformed Church was the guest speaker at one weekly meeting.

St. Thomas More

St. Thomas More is the center of Christian activity for approximately four thousand Catholic students, serving both as a religious and social center. Opportunities for religious instruction and discussion, movies, lectures, and dances are provided. Help with personal problems is available twenty-four hours a day through Father James R. Sullivan, a new arrival at St. Thomas. A major event each year is the "Exercise in Christian Living", a weekend retreat which has become very popular for its illuminating insights into Christian student life.

The new folk mass music is proving to be very meaningful to students, as seen by the enthusiastic turnout for weekend retreats.

"Those Christian living exercises aren't exactly morose, you know!" Father Donn Taylor and Sister Mary Concetta aren't about to argue.

Western's Symphony Orchestra consists of approximately seventy members, most of them coming from Southwestern Michigan Schools. The orchestra presents two regular concerts on campus during the year. A third "honors concert" presents the outstanding senior students in all areas of the music curriculum. These students are chosen by audition. A limited number of out-of-town concerts and a Christmas concert are also presented. Considered one of the finest university orchestras in the mid-west, they perform nothing but the finest orchestral literature. This year the orchestra had the special distinction of presenting the opening concert at the new auditorium. During this historical dedication program, the orchestra had as its soloist Christian Ferras, the highly acclaimed French violinist. The opening overture called "Overture—Fanfare for Dedication" was composed by Dr. Gerald Lloyd of Western's music staff in tribute to the new university auditorium and dedicated to the W.M.U. Orchestra.

A Skier's Delight Becomes A Reality . . .

The First On-Campus Ski Area In The U.S. Is Born On W.M.U.'s Campus

After two and a half years of dreaming, planning and working, the Grand Opening of the Western Michigan Ski Area was finally scheduled. It included the National SkiDoo Show and Western's own Boyne Mountain trained Ski Show. The highlight of the show was the coronation of the Snow Festival Queen and her court on January 28, 1968.

Associated Press gave the area's five slopes and two cross country trails national coverage making it one of the biggest projects in Western's "Route 68" success.

The new organization is under the direction of the W.M.U. Ski Area Board. It is a four member board consisting of the administrative vice-presidents of Inter Fraternity and Panhellenic Councils, president of W.M.U. Ski Club and director of the W.M.U. Ski Patrol. Dr. Joseph Hoy, Athletic Director of W.M.U. is the advisor.

The area was designed mainly for the novice skier. It is a totally student run, non-profit organization which makes it financially possible for every student to enjoy the sport of skiing. A season pass allows the students to ski all season and to take ski lessons at no additional charge.

Future plans for the area are: snow making equipment, a new T-Bar and second tow, an increase in vertical drop and expanding of the slopes.

SKI CLUB

Taking a very active part in Western's student life, the Ski Club's basic goal is to promote outdoor sports for the benefit of members and students alike. Presently, main concentration has been on the winter aspect of skiing, but future plans indicate the possibility of broadening activities to include summer sports.

In operation for the entire school year, preparations for the winter term are made by scheduling a half dozen ski trips, one of them usually planned for Colorado, with the rest in Northern Michigan. The organization provides a perfect mental and physical outlet for the university pressures we all experience.

The pep rally-type cheers are both written and yelled by each group. Performances are judged on originality and loudness; the winner receives a trophy. Victors for 1967 were the "screaming DU's".

The Sky Broncos, Western's fast growing flying club, stress skill and safety during flying. This year the club purchased its first plane, a Cessna 150, and offered lessons to the members which eventually lead to private or commercial licenses. During the years, trips have been taken by the members to all parts of the United States. To climax the year the club competes in an intercollegiate flying meet which tests the precision and accuracy of their pilots.

Sky Broncos display 1910 Curtiss in hopes of increasing membership.

Student Insurance

A student service available is the low-cost Student Insurance Plan. This plan provides comprehensive health, accident, and hospitalization coverage for all Western students. The plan, underwritten by Connecticut General, is being administered by the John DeVries Agency of St. Joseph, Michigan.

Our on-campus Administrator for the Plan is Rosanne Gorman, a senior. The office is located in the Student Center and is open during certain hours to help the student with any aspect of the program.

The members may participate in badminton, basketball, bowling, field hockey, slimmastics, gymnastics, tennis, volleyball, swimming, table tennis, fencing, golf, pinochle, softball, track and field, as well as co-recreation nights. Young Republicans

The Young Republicans are a very spirited group of Western students who are responsible for much of the political activity on campus. The basic goals of the organization are the promotion of their party's beliefs, philosophies, and candidates. Traditionally, the Young Republicans do local precinct work, sponsor many political figures, conduct opinion polls, and canvassing programs. This year, Christmas cards signed by a large number of students were sent to Western alumni serving in Vietnam.

Young Republicans react enthusiastically to new ideas and comments.

Brown & Gold

The Brown and Gold embarks on its sixty-second year of publication under the theme, "Route 68". This year's "driving" staff dedicated themselves to providing an outstanding pictorial record of the school year at Western, with memorable academic and social activities, sports events, campus organizations, and the senior class. Our praiseworthy photographers obviously deserve commendation for their use of the modern "pictorial essay" style, not forgetting, of course, the hundreds—of hours the rest of our staff have spent planning, copywriting, setting layouts, and meditating. This year's cover is no exception to the imaginative versions of the past that the Brown and Gold is so famous for; in addition, Western's annual has the largest distribution of any yearbook in the midwest. Our staff has attempted to provide you with a permanent preservation of countless WMU memories for you and yours hopefully, they have done so, and in a manner unforgettable in itself.

Western has two major literary communications; The Western Herald brings the campus reports of the news three times weekly. The other publication, the Brown and Gold, annually brings the students a pictorial record of the memorable people and events on campus during the school year. Playing a major role in Western's literary life, the student staffs of each gain immeasurable experience and enjoyment in the work they dedicate themselves to. Both the Herald and the Brown and Gold have an advisor, Mr. Joseph Freeman from the news and publications department. All of the publications' policies of operation are set by a student-faculty committee.

The Western Herald, a key student publication at Western, aims at providing its readers with the who, what, where, when and how of campus news and events, as well as world news coverage. Very popular features are the "Viewpoint" and "Letters to the Editor" sections. The Herald is published three times weekly, being distributed free of charge at many key points on campus. This year's Heralds have grown from four to eight pages in another step towards the goal of daily publication.

Academics

This route that was begun by others continues to grow, for us, and because of us, for those yet to come. In the years 1966-67 and 1967-68 the student body, we who question, gathered other seekers and increased Western's enrollment from just over 16,000 to more than 18,000. We answered questions and fulfilled dreams. Danforth, Fulbright, and Rackham are among the scholarships earned.

Outside of the classroom, we distinguished ourselves in sports. Our football team was co-champion of the Mid-American Conference in 1967. That same year, our baseball team won the conference championship and our shuttle hurdles relay team set a world record.

In realizing our own dreams, Western students also took time for other's needs, in providing 35 per cent of the blood collected in Kalamazoo County, in aiding stranded motorists during the Big Snow, in assisting the Kalamazoo Tutorial Project, the Custer Job Corps Center, and Goodwill Industries. Thus we grow—we progress; and as we do, so does Western, that we may have more paths to explore. Western had an enrollment in spring that approached 50 per cent of our Fall semester enrollment. Nearly 8,000 students stayed to study and to loiter in the shades of green. To encourage undergraduate students to elect courses unrelated to their principal fields, to follow different signs, Western instituted a pass/fail system for all students above freshman standing. Under this program the student may elect one course a semester which will not be evaluated on the traditional grade system. Further, Western was accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools to offer programs leading to a doctorate; starting in the Fall of 1966. The first programs—in educational leadership, sociology, chemistry, and science education—will be followed by programs in mathematics in 1968.

Yet another route, farther reaching; to foreign countries has been initiated. We have had students studying in Yugoslavia, Guatemala, England, Africa, France, Germany, Sweden, Japan, and India. As we wished them bon voyage, we welcomed visiting professors from Yugoslavia who came to offer their enrichment to our lives. In addition, there were Philippine and Korean seminars. In recognition of Western's imaginative and progressive programs of international education in affiliations abroad, and foreign studies seminar, the University was selected to receive the 1966 University Award of the Institute of International Education—Reader's Digest Foundation.

Western looks also to the disadvantaged as well as the gifted. Recognizing the need of special training for teachers of the culturally and economically deprived, as well as mentally handicapped, Western became the first University in Michigan to institute a master's degree program in this area. We are among a handful of universities of the nation pioneering in this type of program. Western's academic growth continues to meet the challenge of a fast moving, ever changing twentieth century educational system.

The gauntlet was seized and launched. During the last two years, students have watched the completion of half a dozen buildings—the Industrial and Engineering Technology Building, the Distributive Education Building, the expanded Waldo Library, and the Liberal Arts-Auditorium complex; including a 3,550-seat auditorium, Liberal Arts classroom Building and 600-seat University Theatre. The Auditorium, which received an award for excellence of design, marks a crescendo in the University's development of cultural facilities. The immediate future holds an eight million dollar Physical Science Building, an aviation facility at Kalamazoo Municipal Airport and a 200-unit married housing facility, a Student Services Building, Health Service Building, and Food Service Building. Truly these surroundings point the way forward and we enter, seeking guides . . .

They are waiting—teachers whose abilities are known far and wide. They too, grow, through travel, research, and other scholarly activities. As examples, two of our members accepted invitations from the government of Turkey to assist in developing education in that country; another lectured at the University of Glasgow; one received a Fulbright scholarship to lecture at the University of Belgrade and then went to the Technical College at Ibadan, Nigeria. The record in research is equally impressive. In one ten-month period 83 faculty members submitted 105 research proposals while others received 31 grants or contracts. As with all phases of Western, faculty activities are not confined to the campus. Many serve our community on municipal commission, local education boards, both major political parties and the Kalamazoo Symphony Orchestra. Our faculty is free to pursue their own routes as well as chart ours.

This freedom of faculty and students is the result of an Administration geared to meet our dreams—an Administration whose growth reflects Western's. A fourth vice president, Vice President for Administration, was added to co-ordinate and develop the program of physical facilities expansion. Also the position of Director of Institutional Research was created expressly to provide orderly direction in the mapping of programs, enrollment growth, efficient use of facilities, and delineation of the needs of students. Western's curriculum, facilities, faculty, and administration celebrate the students who build a route for others to follow.

School Of Business

The School of Business at Western Michigan University prepares young men and young women on the undergraduate and graduate level for challenging careers in industrial, business and governmental enterprises. Students, through the core curriculum, receive a broad background in the tools, knowledges, and skills that all business career oriented individuals need to be effective contributors to the organization. In addition, students have the opportunity to pursue a major interest area. These interest areas cover a broad range of activities, such as accounting, insurance, finance, retailing, sales, marketing, personnel, industrial management, and administrative services.

Each one of these areas have a great many subdivisions and through a thorough study in these areas, the student has an opportunity to find those activities which give promise to a rewarding, challenging and interesting life-time career.

The School of Education is the largest school in the University, enrolling approximately one-half of all on-campus students. Western is the second largest institution in the United States in the number of elementary teachers produced each year, and third in the number of secondary teachers. Prospective teachers may major in any one of 35 subject fields, ranging from American studies and Anthropology, to Special Education and Vocational-Technical Education. Each semester a thousand or more student teachers prepare for career teaching in locations ranging from Chicago to Detroit, many in their home communities. The School of Education contains the departments of Teacher Education, Special Education, School Services, Men's Physical Education and Women's Physical Education. It also includes several agencies such as the Campus Laboratory School, the Educational Resources Center, the Psycho-Educational Clinic, and the Institute for Blind Rehabilitation. The quality of Western's programs for the preparations of teachers and school service personnel is recognized far and wide. The University is the only one in the United States to have won two Distinguished Achievement Education Awards. One of these was for the outstanding Educational Resources Center located in Sangrer Hall, the other in connection with the new program for teachers of disadvantaged children.

Excellent facilities for research and study are found in the library of the Educational Resources Center.

School Of General Studies

Audio-Visual aids are available to Bio-Sci. students.

Geology student supplements lecture material with lab work.

People come to college for an assortment of reasons. Some people come to catch a husband, some to become eligible for a job, some to attract the attention of a professional league scout, some to improve their social acceptability. There is nothing wrong with these purposes as far as they go. But Western Michigan University has set a goal for the people whom it admits which is larger and, perhaps, more difficult of attainment than these. That goal is that every student should have the knowledge, the techniques, and the desire to live a reflective and discriminating life.

The General Studies program is one of the principle devices which Western has established to achieve this goal. We at Western believe that a person who expects a degree should have some knowledge, skill, and perspective with regard to the processes of communication, the social sciences, the natural sciences, and the humanities.

These are big areas. One cannot hope to become professionally competent in any of them by taking one or two courses. But the essential aim of General Studies is not specialized training, which is the business of professional curricula. Rather, the General Studies program attempts to open doors and present ideas. It tries to stimulate healthy self-criticism. It proposes to introduce the student to the world in which the educated man and the responsible citizen must live, a world of pressures and changes and of endlessly varied problems, and to give him some of the most important means for coping with them.

The program includes a total of 40 hours of work: 26 hours at the Freshman-Sophomore level, 8 hours at the Junior-Senior level, and 6 hours at additional "non-professional liberal arts courses."

At the Argonne National Laboratory in Argonne, Illinois, students have an opportunity to study with students and professors from other universities.

The School of Graduate Studies offers work leading to a Master's degree in 54 areas of study. These include an M.B.A. degree, 29 curricula in education and teaching, four programs leading to the Master of Science degree, a Master of Music degree, and a Master of Occupational Therapy degree. Specialist in Education degrees are offered in nine areas, and there are six programs leading to the Education Specialist degree.

There are doctoral degree programs in four areas. Programs leading to the Ph.D. are offered in Chemistry, Sociology, and Science Education. A program leading to an Ed.D. is offered in Educational Leadership.

The School of Graduate Studies emphasizes development of new programs and improvement of existing ones, thus, the enrollment in graduate courses has shown almost phenomenal increases. The number of students enrolled has doubled within the past five years, the number of full-time students enrolled has increased more than six times. Present enrollments exceed 2,600 graduate students with more than 900 full-time students.

Without question the School of Graduate Studies will continue to grow both quantitatively and qualitatively. Everyone participating in the various aspects of the graduate program is currently and energetically planning for appropriate developments in every direction that is consistent with the development of the University as a whole.

School Of Applied Arts And Sciences

DR. GEORGE E. KOHRMAN, Dean.

The School of Applied Arts and Sciences provides occupationally oriented programs in the areas of agriculture home economics, aviation and automotive technology, paper technology, occupational therapy, electronics, metallurgy industrial engineering, mechanical technology, printing management and food petroleum distribution.

WMU is nationally known in several of the areas represented in this School. The Occupational Therapy Department is one of the oldest and largest in the United States. Western has one of six undergraduate paper technology programs in the nation. The programs in food and petroleum distribution are unique among the universities and colleges throughout the country. Our program in the field of technical education was among the first of its kind in the nation, having been established in 1937. In 1960 Western was invited by the United States Government to assist Nigeria in developing a two-year technical college at Ibadan, Nigeria. This project was part of our Federal Foreign Aid Program. The project is scheduled to be completed in June, 1968. Currently Western has eight staff members in Ibadan serving as Consultants to the Nigerian Government in the operation of the School. The purpose of the Technical College is to prepare workers in areas of mechanical, electrical, and civil technology, town planning and business subjects. Approximately 350 students are presently enrolled in the school.

Served by members of Western's staff and developed by the University in 1960, this is the two year technical college at Ibadan, Nigeria.

School Of Liberal Arts And Sciences

DR. GERALD OSBORN, Dean.

The School of Liberal Arts and Sciences, with 20 departments and a faculty of 450, offers students a broad selection of courses. During the past year over 5,000 students were majoring in Liberal Arts curricula. The School has a proud heritage of excellence and is constantly alert to the needs of students and society. It offers Bachelor's and Master's degrees in many areas and the Doctor of Philosophy degree in Sociology, Chemistry, and in conjunction with the School of Education a doctoral degree in Science Education.

This school offers a variety of subjects that combine to develop a student who will be at home in the world of ideas, and whose experience of living will be deepened by an understanding of his cultural heritage. It aims to offer him training in thinking objectively, critically, and creatively. Its offerings serve not only the special student of the sciences and humanities but also provide a background of liberal education for students in the other schools of the university and for those in the pre-professional courses.

Thus the School of Liberal Arts with its University-wide approach, serves the School of Applied Arts and Sciences, Business, Graduate Studies and those students who plan to become teachers and wish to major or minor in subjects included in departments of the School of Liberal Arts and Sciences. Pre-professional areas served include: Christian Ministry, Dentistry, Engineering, Forestry, Journalism, Law, Librarianship, Medicine, Mortuary Science, Nursing and Pharmacy.

They are bringing more new ideas to Western than ever before, and have utilized the services of more seniors outside of the executive board. They have initiated several new traditions and have been very instrumental in promoting others. The list of activities this year includes Freshman Help Week, Miami-Western Peacepipe, Little Brothers' Weekend, Senior Class Recognition Week, Senior Sentinel, and the Class of '68 Memorial Scholarship.

In this small space completing the 1968 Brown and Gold I want to especially thank every person listed above. Their outstanding work is continually evidenced throughout this book where they have captured the many facets of Western not only for the present but for years to come. Because of them I can proudly say WE met every deadline.

I would also like to thank the following for their help and cooperation: President James Miller, the Administration and Deans, Mr. Robert Rubom, Mr. Chuck Zimmerman, Mr. James Delorto, Mr. James Colonna, and the WMU Herald Staff.
